PA NEWC Observes

Make July 4 safe and sane here at home. Celebrate by purchase of war bonds and staying at home.

Indications are that an unusually large crowd will gather at Gascon park on Tuesday for the Fourth of July holiday. In fact, an old time crowd of the years before the war may be witnessed, if weather conditions are good.

There seemed to be very light auto traffic on the roads on Sunday, indicating that motorists are heeding the appeal to save gas and tires, and make no long trips.

Work of resurfacing the Leesburg to Grove City highway has been completed. Pa Newc is informed.

Fishermen from New Castle who went to the Allegheny over the weekend for the opening of the bass fishing season, got a surprise. The water was about two feet higher than normal stage, and made fishing not so good. With the lack of rainfall here in the past week or more, the height of the stream was a surprise.

"Corn knee high by the Fourth of July" is not the rule this year. Corn in many fields is now four and five feet high. Pa Newc is told.

Clerks in downtown stores are enjoying an unexpected three-day holiday period, the result of the decision of most stores to close today, giving the clerk Sunday, Monday and Tuesday as holidays.

In the event of loss of the single 1944 auto license plate, a cardboard tag bearing the registration number may be used until the plate is replaced. The Pittsburgh Motor Club said it had been advised by the Pennsylvania Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

Some bus riders apparently never heard of safety first. Recently we have seen a number of patrons get off the bus at a street intersection and then step around in front of the bus without waiting for the bus to pass. Passengers should get off a bus at an intersection should wait on the curb until the bus passes before starting across the street.

And while we are on the subject of safety first, we might mention that we noticed two women pushing babies in their carriages, crossing downtown street intersections directly against the traffic signals.

There will be no mail delivery in the city on Tuesday. Neither will there be any testing of prospective auto drivers by the state police on Simpson street during the day.

Wonder how many of the flags that will be flown on Tuesday in this district will be put up properly? On every holiday occasion a proportion are seen that are not properly put up.

German Counter Attacks Decrease In Caen Sector

Allied Threat To Caen Increases As Nazi Attacks Are Repulsed

SEVERE MAULING IS GIVEN GERMANS (BULLETIN)

LONDON, July 3.—(INS)—American troops in Normandy went over to the attack about dawn today, pushing down the west coast of the Cherbourg peninsula, according to a front-line broadcast heard by Reuters.

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, July 3.—British armored and infantry forces, momentarily increasing the threat to the key communications center of Caen, bolstered their bridgehead today across the Odon river as the German counter-attacks against these positions tapered off.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's 55th communique announced that the bridgehead was "further strengthened" yesterday morning and added:

"Enemy activity was on a reduced scale, owing probably to the severe mauling received Saturday. The German DNE agency told of an artillery battle continuing 'with unabated ferocity' yesterday on the main centers of the invasion front. The enemy broadcast said the Allies brought 'heavy naval units' deep into the Orne estuary to assist in shelling Nazi positions southwest of Caen."

Advance In Italy Continues As Allies Approach "Gothic Line"

GOERING DIVISIONS HEAVILY BOMBED
By JAMES L. KILGALLIN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

ROME, July 3.—Allied mobile columns in Italy threatened two important German-held ports, one at either end of the front. And early today occupied the historic city of Siena.

French troops of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army climaxed a bitter struggle in the Tuscan area of Italy this morning by capturing the ancient university city, while other Allied troops slashed toward the important ports of Livorno and Ancona.

Fifteen Miles From Livorno
American spearheads of the Fifth Army were less than 15 miles from the port of Livorno, which in turn is but a short distance below Pisa, western anchor of the enemy's "gothic line."

The British Eighth Army, meantime, was within eight miles of Ancona on the Adriatic. French forces also reached Cosoledda, south of Florence, another key point in the "gothic line," while the British advanced to Lucignano, with 14 miles of Arezzo. The latter town is a strongpoint in the Germans' delaying line and key to the Chiana valley route toward Florence.

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HQ., New Guinea, July 3.—(INS)—The heaviest blow yet delivered by American air power against Neomfoor Island, one of the last New Guinea enemy strongholds on the road to the Philippines, was announced today.

American bombers hurled 230 tons of explosives on airstrips and other ground installations, causing large fires and explosions.

Neomfoor Island, situated in Geelvinck Bay off Dutch New Guinea, is the site of a strong enemy air base.

United Nations International Monetary Conference Is Progressing

BRETTON WOODS, N. H., July 3.—(INS)—The United Nations international monetary and financial conference, which opened Saturday, enters the "shirtsleeves" phase today.

At a plenary session this morning, the delegates will be asked to pass upon an agenda developed for the conference during the last fortnight at Atlantic City at a preliminary gathering of 70 experts from 14 nations.

Harry D. White, assistant to the U. S. secretary of the treasury, announced that the tentative plan is to divide the work of the conference into three major commissions, which in turn will divide into committees and sub-committees. Each group will undertake to reach understanding on monetary and financial principles which are designed to promote peace, prosperity and plenty in the postwar world.

Eight Captured German Nurses Given Freedom

By JOHN E. LEE
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE FIRST U. S. ARMY IN NORMANDY, July 2.—(Delayed)—American and German firing faded into dead silence late today in a prescribed sector of Caumont on the Normandy front while eight German nurses captured when Cherbourg fell, were transferred across the lines to enemy forces facing our troops. Soon after the transaction the guns on both sides roared back into action.

The nurses, were placed in two ambulances flying white flags and were escorted across the lines by Capt. Quentin Roosevelt, son of the famed Brig. General Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and Capt. Fred Gherke. The ambulances, with windows sealed so that the German girls would be prevented from obtaining information during the trip (Continued on Page Two)

LONDON, July 3.—(INS)—The death of six more German generals in action during the last few days was reported by Berlin today.

To the People of this Community

War expenditures have never been greater than they are today. From January through June, 1944, direct war costs will exceed 45 billion dollars—an average of almost eight billion dollars a month.

These figures are not just book-keeper's statistics. Every plane, every tank, every piece of medical equipment, every landing ship, every ounce of food, every item of the thousands which throw a protective cordon around our troops, comes out of this money.

You may think your personal Fifth War Loan goal is high. You may feel that the 10 per cent or more of your wages which you now put into War Bonds is enough. Is that the way you feel about the life of your son or brother or friend in the invasion? Do you place a limit on your evaluation of his life? How many War Bonds do you think your neighbor who already has lost a son in this war would buy to see him alive today? Back the attack—Buy more than before.

Quiet Program Here For Fourth

No Special Program For Observance—Some Industries Will Operate

There won't be as many picnics here and there won't be as many welkin ringing speeches, but tomorrow will be the Fourth of July just the same. The picnics are lessened here that the armed tourists over there may have more gasoline and oil, and the old-fashioned fireworks here are replaced by 155's over there. As for the welkin ringing speeches, they'll have to wait for another day.

Here on the home front the day will be a holiday for most people, one of the few in a war time calendar. Most of the retail stores are closed today giving the clerks a three-day holiday.

Good Weather Indicated

The weather indications point to another dry, hot day, which is a fine thing for Fourth-of-July vacationists but just another tough day for farm crops and war gardens. It hasn't rained enough here in the past two weeks to give the crops more than a splash in the face.

The day would be an excellent day to close up the fifth war loan campaign, it would be an excellent day to get off some letters to fellows with an APO address, but most folks won't do either, the day has been used as a holiday for a century and it's going to be tomorrow. Of course, originally it had something to do with the signing of a declaration telling the world that we intended to be free and were willing to do something about it if necessary.

Night-Flying Bombers Blast Budapest Area

ROME, July 3.—Night-flying bombers of the Mediterranean Air Force returned to the Budapest area last night, shortly after U. S. daylight heavy bombers achieved "excellent" results in their strikes at the Hungarian capital and other targets in occupied Yugoslavia, headquarters announced today.

At least 57 enemy warplanes were shot down in yesterday's daylight operations, which cost the Allies 15 heavy bombers and eight other planes listed as missing.

Hit Oil Installations

The night bombers smashed at oil installations in the Budapest area, where industrial and communications facilities were thoroughly plastered on Sunday.

Two-engine aircraft of the Mediterranean air force continued their job of attacking road and rail traffic in northern Italy, also attacking bridges.

The Germans again threw up large fleets of interceptors against the Balkan bombers. It was in these attempts to stop the raiders that the enemy lost so heavily. During the raids 48 Luftwaffe craft were shot down; later Mustang fighter-bombers returned and got nine others.

Posthumous Medal For Flying Hero

Mother Of Finleyville Gunner Gets Coveted Congressional Medal Of Honor For Son

FINLEYVILLE, Pa., July 3.—(INS)—Western Pennsylvania's fourth winner of the Congressional Medal of Honor in this war unlike his predecessors can not be coming home to receive the homage of his proud friends and neighbors.

It was with this realization in mind today that Mrs. Mary Mathies of Finleyville tearfully expressed her pride in the feat of her son, Sgt. Archibald Mathies, 25, engineer-gunner on a Flying Fortress for whom a posthumous award of the highest medal was granted for attempting to help land his crippled plane in order to save the life of the wounded pilot.

"It was the main thing to do," said Mrs. Mathies in referring to her son's refusal to parachute from the plane and desert his pilot.

Mathies, the navigator who also won the medal, and the pilot were all killed when the plane crashed in landing.

Sergeant Mathies, a native of Scotland and a former mine worker, had written home before the event which brought him honor and death that after watching some air corps heroes decorated in England he hoped some day "they'll pin a few medals on me."

Soviets Storming Gates Of Minsk; Nazis Desperate

MAJOR ESCAPE ROUTES CUT OFF (BULLETIN)

MOSCOW, July 3.—One hundred and eighty miles closer to Berlin than they were ten days ago, Soviet forces flung through White Russia opened the battle for Minsk today, attacking in great strength against Nazi Germany's best eastern front troops.

The gigantic offensive in White Russia already has carried the Soviets one-quarter of the distance to Berlin.

By NATALIA RENE
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, July 3.—Red army shock troops opened the battle for Minsk, gateway to Warsaw and Berlin, today and the Nazis threw in their best units in a desperate effort to hold the Russians outside the virtually isolated White Russian capital.

Frontline dispatches said the Germans are "fiercely resisting" the Soviet drive from the southeast, counter-attacking "repeatedly."

The Soviet Legion, who cut off all major established escape routes for an estimated 300,000 Germans defending the bastion, began their attack within easy artillery range of the Nazi defenses on the northeastern outskirts of the town, frontline dispatches declared.

At last reports the Russian armored legions, equipped by saw-toothed Cossack cavalrymen and backed by heavy artillery—were less than 12½ miles from Minsk in that direction.

Governor Martin Urges Driving Out Of Evil Elements

State Executive Delivers Stinging Address At Indiana, Pa., On Sunday

INDIANA, Pa., July 3.—(INS)—Gov. Edward Martin believed today that "we must drive evil elements out of the political business and social life of America in order to make it a fit place for returning servicemen to live after the war."

"We have tolerated the racketeer, the chieftain, the gangster and the law evader," the governor said last night at a religious and patriotic service in Indiana. "We have endured them too long. Few communities are free from them. It is time for them to go."

"The government must always have the courage to act when the rights of people are endangered by mislead minorities of dangerous and subversive action," the chief executive added.

He called upon the church with its "warm humanity" to aid the returning servicemen in solving their problems.

"A militantly organized church can and will meet this need and duty," he declared.

Major, Pulaski, Pa., has received the Air Medal for meritorious achievement as a radio-man-gunner with a dive-bomber squadron in the South Pacific. He was decorated at El Toro Marine Corps Air Station, Santa Ana, Calif.

Master Technical Sergeant Major served 12 months in the Solomon Islands area, taking part in more than 30 missions against Japanese ground positions.

"Once while we were diving on anti-aircraft guns," he recalls, "our plane was hit three times by Japs. It made a large hole in each wing and the middle was blown to shreds. I was the only one left to bring up the gun which had been giving us the most trouble, and managed to return safely to the air base."

Master Technical Sergeant and Mrs. Major, the former Mary Fannin of Canfield, O., live in Santa Ana. He was graduated from the Liberty High school, Churchill, O., in 1940, and worked for the Republic Steel Corporation before enlisting in August 1941. which is 17 miles from Livorno. British forces at the same time broke through German delaying positions northwest of Lake Trasimeno and surged forward through the Chiana valley, taking a number of towns.

The drive into the Chiana valley was the most rapid advance made of late, while to the east of the lake other British elements moved on as far as the northeast corner of Trasimeno four miles south of Cortona.

Seize Ortona
The Reuters news agency said Sinalunga, four miles below Cortona, was occupied, while other Eighth Army units seized Ortona.

Members of the famed Hermann Goering division, which sought to disengage themselves from the Eighth Army in this sector, were constantly bombed and strafed by fighter-bombers of the Mediterranean air force. Allied gun batteries also opened fire on the Nazis, delaying their considerably.

On the Adriatic bank of the Tiber, British forces entered Ortona, eight miles south of Ancona. The latter port, headquarters indicated may be expected to fall within the next few days.

travelled slowly down the road past the most advanced American outposts approximately half way to the German lines.

At this point they were met by a German major and captain supported by a group of Nazi enlisted men who remained in the rear.

The ambulances halted and the German officers saluted and then served all the little American in this strange incident on the battlefield.

"It's A Hot Day"
The Nazi major commented: "Well, it's a hot day."

Captain Roosevelt replied, "Yes, it is."

Then the nurses were handed over to the Germans. Both parties saluted and then returned to their respective lines. After a short interval firing was resumed.

Arrangements for the transfer were made by American Army and Red Cross officials who sent out frequent radio messages on wavelengths on which the Germans were believed to be listening.

Finally the Germans answered and arrangements were made for the time and place of the exchange between the lines and for cessation of firing.

The Americans in their radio contact with the enemy made no suggestion of an exchange of prisoners, offering merely to return the nurses to the Germans.

Prior to the transfer, the nurses were given a glimpse of the tremendous equipment the Americans now have in France and were taken through one of our field hospitals where they marvelled at the wealth of medical equipment which the U. S. Army had brought into the field in such a short time.

Brigadier Marks Presumed Killed

KANDY, Ceylon, July 3.—(INS)—The late Major General Orde C. Wingate's senior administrative staff officer, Brigadier R. Neville P. Marks, is missing, presumed killed in an air crash over friendly territory, Southeast Asia Command headquarters announced today. He was 42.

Brigadier Marks set off from one of the Chindit's air bases on May 25th in poor flying weather to visit Major General Bernard Lantaigne's headquarters "somewhere in the Mogaung valley."

It was mainly due to Brigadier Marks' foresight that the system of sending official airgraphs and cables to relations was introduced, thus relieving them of anxiety at the non-receipt of news from the Chindits inside Burma.

Germans throwing into battle crack SS troops, rambling frantically on checking the Russian steamroller which in the first week of its offensive killed or captured some 200,000 troops.

Roads to Minsk are choked with German infantry, being hurled back by the relentless advance of the red army. Stomovik dive-bombers, roaring ahead of the advancing Soviet columns, are battering Nazi transport columns.

The exploding bombs and burning vehicles raise pillars of smoke and flame which serve to guide the Russian mobile units sweeping across the country.

The Russians are throwing a vast quantity of artillery into the drive on Minsk. Self-propelling guns are carpeting entire areas with fire, one dispatch said.

Roads Are Choked
So densely packed are the war-machines moving on Minsk that the road itself seems to be flowing west.

German prisoners still are coming in by the thousands, and the woods where they are being held momentarily are literally "crisscrossed with them." One frontline dispatch said that it is not unusual to see a Nazi soldier approach a red army girl, who is controlling traffic, and demand that she accept him as a prisoner.

An unnamed German general, commander of an infantry division, was captured wearing the uniform of a private on top of his officer's tunic, Reuters News Agency said.

Rush Up Reserves
Swift-moving Soviet columns, paced by tanks and Cossack cavalrymen, cut off all major communications lines to the Nazis in the impelled enemy bastion when they by-passed the city to the north and south.

Special orders-of-the-day announced that the Minsk-Villa and Minsk-Brest Litovsk railways were severed in the "impetuous" Russian advance.

In a vain effort to combat the steady Russian surge, the German high command rushed fresh reserves to the front and hurling them into repeated counter-attacks, but all to no avail.

"Attempting to stem the advance of Soviet units," declared the midnight communiqué, "the enemy is hurriedly bringing up counter-attacks supported by tanks and self-propelled guns."

In one such counter-thrust, the announcement added, the Germans attacked in battalion strength, but were "routed by an impetuous Soviet blow."

Hundred of Soviet planes are raining up and down the enemy, blasting at everything in sight.

"Hitler's army is on the verge of catastrophe," declared the official newspaper Pravda, "July 3 stands out as one of the most significant dates of our times and will never be deleted from the memory of the Soviet people."

Before the coordinated blows of the heroic red army and our valiant allies, Hitlerite Germany is giving way and succumbing. The hour of her final rout is near at hand."

Plants To Operate
Industrial Pennsylvania, arsenal of democracy, will mark the "glorious fourth" with another day of record-breaking war production.

The exodus of holiday travelers began Friday but railroads and bus companies—while doing a rushing business—reported the burden was not as great as on other holidays when there were no appeals to stay home and thus permit the uninterrupted transportation of troops and war materials.

Supervised fireworks displays will be at a minimum in the wake of an army order banning "aerial pyrotechnics and detonating material of any kind," according to the Third Service Command.

Retail sales of fireworks were at a minimum because there was not sufficient material available to distribute from munitions plants. The war time lack of powder fireworks law of 1930 probably will result in the lowest accident toll in the state's history. In 1938, a record of 16 fatalities resulting from fireworks were reported. Since then no deaths from fireworks have been reported.

In many cities, stores will be closed today and tomorrow to give employees a short vacation.

AZTECS GLIDER FLIERS
Archaeologists in Mexico have discovered that the ancient Aztecs built and flew gliders made of storks' feathers. Flights were made from mountain tops into valleys.

In more than two centuries of Spanish rule (1540 to 1750), Bolivian mines produced gold valued at two billion dollars.

said that there were some enemy attacks against the bridgehead but that all were "firmly repulsed."

"The enemy probably is regrouping to use his armor and infantry for a big punch," a headquarters spokesman observed.

At noon yesterday Allied forces became restive, too. Since then the spokesman said, they made no attacks of any importance anywhere. Thus they obviously were strengthening their positions rather than meeting any large-scale counter-offensive by the enemy or to spring their own stepped-up drive into the German lines.

Only one Nazi counterattack of any importance was reported that came shortly before dawn on Sunday when two strong enemy patrols attacked the southeast corner of the deep Allied salient driven into their positions. A heavy fire from concentrated Allied batteries dispersed the German formations.

Straighten Salient
Meanwhile, the Americans of the First U. S. Army in Normandy launched a series of minor actions which resulted in straightening out some dangerous salients in their line northwest of La Haye, at the base of the Cherbourg peninsula.

Another dangerous indentation west of Caumont was eliminated by the Yanks in a minor attack during the last 12 hours.

Straightening out and bettering of the Allied position is proceeding continuously, enabling the Allies to ready themselves to meet counter-attacks and provide better pumping-off positions when the time comes to launch new Allied attacks," the spokesman said.

Beaver Executive Called By Death

BEAVER, Pa., July 3.—(INS)—Private funeral services will be held in Beaver tomorrow for Frank B. Thompson, 78, former vice president of the American Bridge Company and chairman of the board of Revimer Bros. Inc. The retired executive died yesterday. He is survived by three sons and three daughters.

In protecting shipping of American coasts the Coast Guard maintains over 50,000 aids to navigation, including 500 lighthouses plus lightships, buoys, radio beacons and fog signals.

There were no details of importance to report from other parts of the Normandy invasion front, but in the Evreux sector below Caen there was slight patrol activity. An Allied infantry patrol worked its way forward into Bretteville, northwest of the British salient.

Why take all that risk, when you can have the smooth, even "flawless look" you want—without danger! Why put up with troublesome "wet" powder, when Lady Esther Face Powder gives fresher, more exciting glamor at the touch of your puff.

July Fourth—Its Significance

One of the steadfast things in this sadly disrupted world is America's adherence to freedom. That spirit activated the first people who braved the unknown to carve homes out of the wilderness on the Atlantic coast. On these shores love of liberty waxed stronger until it resulted in political independence as well as religious and economic freedom.

Through the many generations since that day Americans have guarded their independence well. It is for the safeguarding of independence and its extension in a world overrun with totalitarian activities for man's subjugation that Americans are fighting.

At every recurrence of the Fourth of July the thought arises that when this country declared its independence it not only did something to the science of government among nations, but it wrought so effectively as to affect the individual to an extent that was world-stirring.

The idea inculcated in national independence was quite simple—that a people could be self-governing by keeping the executive, legislative and judicial arms of government in balance.

Freedom for the individual, which accompanied the establishment of independence in government, was decidedly intricate in its working. It obligated the individual to differentiate between license and liberty. It taught him that he had no right to resort to violence in deciding issues. But it did assure the individual that what he won by his brain, his energy—or through shrewdness—he had a right to turn into property in the possession of which he would be protected.

This was a subtle process when applied to the individual mind. It led to invention of the cotton gin, the steamboat, the telegraph, the reaper, the telephone, the electric light, the automobile, the airplane and to development of the major food, fuel and fiber sources of supply on earth.

Today the United States is the most powerful nation on the globe. Independence did that. It is the richest nation in history. Liberty did that.

Precedent Is Cited

Raymond Moley recalls that no one has mentioned an election precedent established by South Dakota in 1912. He believes it to be relevant in the case of Texas, Mississippi and South Carolina, now threatening to take their electoral votes off the Democratic reservation this year.

In May, 1912, Theodore Roosevelt, Senator La Follette and President Taft ran in the presidential primary of South Dakota. T. R. won. In June the delegates selected in the South Dakota primary and pledged to T. R. bolted the Republican convention. Later they helped nominate T. R. in the ramp convention.

Before the election the South Dakota electors on the Republican ticket announced that they would, if elected, refuse to vote for Taft but would cast the electoral vote of the state for Roosevelt. After their election, they carried out their plan.

Chosen by the voters as Republican electors, they refused to be bound by the nomination of their party.

Names of the candidates for president did not appear on the South Dakota ballot, only the names of the party electors. Therefore the voters could vote only for the electors, and the electors voted as they pleased.

Home Front Responsibility

Warning that the war is far from won, and that the slightest slackening of production on the home front might spell disaster, comes with fresh force and conviction from the "big three" commanders of our fighting men.

It is the first time that General Marshall, Army chief of staff, Admiral King, chief of naval operations, and General Arnold, commander of Army Air Forces, have joined in sounding this most necessary note.

Their earnest admonition is invested with special meaning by the fact that they have just returned from the Normandy front and have been impressed by "a state of mind in this country" which has made it imperative for them to speak out to the American people.

The encouraging successes of our forces on land, sea and in the air have been made possible by American industry and labor working at full speed. But every victory has been won at heavy cost, not only in precious lives but in indispensable material.

Desertions of our soldiers are unthinkable. But as these commanders well say, desertions on the home front "would protract the war and reduce our prospects of victory."

In certain branches of war production, according to WPB, such as shipbuilding and the weapons most vital to the invasion, labor and industry have scored a high record. But labor shortage has cut the output of steel and ammunition below schedule.

None of us is free from the danger of overcomplacency. All of us must realize that victory, to a greater extent than ever before, depends on sticking to our jobs and working with a will. This is the time to redouble our efforts. "There is still a tough fight ahead of us." We must help to deliver the final blow.

World Free Press

"The people do not desire war and all peoples would discourage it if the real causes or motives for war were exposed through daily publication of news free from influences of self-interest," said John S. Knight, president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, in explaining his appointment of a committee of American editors to seek international free press agreements after the war.

Mr. Knight was acting in conformity with a resolution of the society. And the resolution was adopted only after canvassing the opinions of American editors and discussing the question at a meeting of the editors. It may be regarded as substantially representing the faith of the American people in the efficacy of free discussion as an element in government restful on the consent of the government.

American newspaper men abroad have protested for years that they are obliged to conform to the press control policy of the country from which they report, instead of being allowed to work to the standards of the American press.

These men know—and many of them have written on the evil, that the first move of a dictator-minded leader of the Hitler stripe is to bring the press under control. He first forbids certain articles, then takes the final step and dictates what shall be said.

In all the Axis countries and Russia there was no semblance of a free press before the war. In Germany, Italy and Japan the people were censored by law or deception. Had the newspaper men of the Axis countries been free to interpret the attitude of the free countries toward the common people of the Axis countries, the dictators would have been disarmed. In all probability, there would have been no war.

Washington Calling

By MARQUIS CHILDS

Fourth Of July

CHICAGO, July 3.—Those of us who grew up here in the Midwest remember a different kind of Fourth of July from the one we're observing this year. Today it's quiet in all the little towns across the great flat prairie that is the heart of the nation.

It's quiet because people are working. They're working in factories or mills or they're working in the fields where the prolonged unnatural rains have delayed the crop season. Or maybe they're resting for a day, resting from the long toil that has produced our strength.

On those other Fourth's you could smell the gunpowder in the moment you woke up, and that was only a little after daybreak. The grand wonderful excitement went on through the whole day, till the last rocket trailed an arc across the sky. Looking back, you sometimes felt that all the noise and the Roman candles and the pinwheels were irrelevant. Maybe we didn't think much about what it was for. Perhaps we did take it for granted. It came so easy.

It seemed to grow out of the business of the countryside, out of the full picnic baskets, the tables groaning with such food as never was before or since. I can remember especially the Indian pickles in olive oil and the cherry pies if the season was late.

Remember More Flags

I seem to remember more flags then. At home we had a huge flag of wood bunting that was hung from a big tree on a rope that reached into an attic window. Putting it up was quite a job and when you'd finished, you felt proud to see the flag there in the warm still air.

Maybe we did take it for granted—everything that lay behind the flag and the firecrackers and the picnic baskets. It may be merely a nostalgic illusion, but looking back that time seems to have been singularly uncomplicated.

We didn't appear to have any enemies, or at least we didn't recognize them since they may have been our own complacency and indifference. Our world today is unbelievably complicated so that still, sometimes, we do not know our enemies.

Hitler—that's simple enough, and Tolo. But today there are enemies within as well as without. There are men and women, so full of frustration, so bitten by hate, that they would destroy or distort everything most precious in our way of life.

Number Is Small

I think as yet their number is small. If we manage our affairs in the next two or three years, which will be test years, with some degree of success, their number will remain small. That is, there'll be a few that their shrill voices of hate and dissension will not matter. We seem able, we Americans, to stand a lot of raving and ranting of one kind and another.

But this time we can't afford complacency and indifference. This time we're going to have to know and understand something at least about the complicated world we live in.

It's utterly changed from the world of 25 years ago. History took a tremendous jump in that quarter century.

We can't go back to that simpler day, the firecrackers and the picnic baskets. Too many people want to go back, which may be one reason for the frustration and the despair.

So much is in our heritage. And on this day of all days we must realize that it is not a dead thing, a document done up with red seals. It must be not only cherished but engaged. "It is for us the living." That's what Lincoln was talking about in another way.

PEACE PROBLEMS

Oh, when can men get back again to problems such as these?

Will bass bite best on worms or frogs, or east or west the breeze?

When can we meet again on streams to argue, angler-wise.

To just what sort of pretty fly the rainbow trout will rise?

Time was—now long ago it seems—when done with need to earn.

Were perch and pickerel plentiful, was off our chief concern.

And this, our greatest problem was on many a summer day.

When none of us had a bite, should we go home or stay?

Not now, until the war is won, and peace is ours once more.

Are we to spare the time to drift and dream, away from shore?

We've graver problems on our minds, till "Hater" comes to terms.

Than this: are black bass taking frogs or humpback for worms?

The World and the Mud Puddles

TWO GREAT DECLARATIONS

Tomorrow is the "Independence Day"

Tomorrow is the day we citizens of the United States celebrate an event that should be remembered as long as this Republic endures, and this is a particular time for our memories to be busy, for all good Americans desire that this Republic should endure forever.

Therefore, without quoting all of the Declaration of Independence I quote here those sentences in which the representatives from the thirteen Colonies, assembled, expressed their reasons for declaring that these United Colonies are and of right ought to be Free and Independent States.

"Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing them.

"But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security."

The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States.

To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world.

The following are some of the "usurpations" which the men in Congress on July 4, 1776, saw fit to enumerate and which bear a striking resemblance to the usurpations of the present administration in Washington.

"He has refused to Assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good."

"He has obstructed the Administration of Justice."

"He has made Judges dependent upon his Will alone."

"He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harass the people and eat out their substance."

"He has affected to render the Military independent of and superior to the Civil Power."

"He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution and unacknowledged by our laws."

"He has abolished our Charters, and altering fundamentally the Forms of our Government."

"And he should be forgotten the closing words of that great Declaration."

"And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm Reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor."

To that Declaration were fifty-six men who for years had been regarded as men of high estate in the Thirteen Colonies—the nucleus of the United States of America—There was, first, the well known signature of John Hancock. And following among the signers, were such names as: Edward Rutledge, Arthur Middleton, Charles Carroll of Calverton, Richard Henry Lee, Thomas Jefferson, Thomas Light, Rosh, Benjamin Franklin, Philip Livingston, Lewis Morris, John Witherspoon, Samuel Adams, John Adams, Robert Treat Paine, Elbridge Gerry, Roger Sherman and Oliver Wolcott.

Eighty-seven years after the signing of this great State Paper occurred what was the deciding battle between the Northern and the Southern States, composing the Union—a battle that determined whether or not the United States should be dissolved on July 4th, 1863, the Southern Army, led by the battlefield of Gettysburg, and later Abraham Lincoln delivered on that field of battle an address the shortest, most concise and most brilliant of all orations spoken in the English language. Lincoln said at that time: "Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal."

"Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation or any other nation, so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting-place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this."

"But in the larger sense, we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who fought here have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us, that from these honored dead, we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion, that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that the government of the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Answer: A corsage, harmonious with the dress should be chosen. An army corsage is more appropriate for the bride who wears a bridal gown.

If you wear a corsage, don't wear flowers in your hair. Preferably choose a corsage matching your dress—very smart at present.

CROWD ATTENDS LAWN SERVICE

Non-Sectarian Service Sponsored By County C. E. Held On
First Christian Lawn

Union church service held on the lawn of the First Christian church Sunday evening attracted a larger audience than had been anticipated. Arrangements had been made for seating 400 but well over 500 were present. Extra chairs were provided by the Plankton Christian Endeavor society in charge of ushering.

The service was the first of the outdoor summer services in which congregations of many city churches joined. Lawrence County Christian Endeavor groups are sponsors of these non-sectarian services that have been planned for Sunday evenings during July.

Rev. Thomas J. Jones delivered the message of the evening on "Holding Fast to Faith". The congregation was led in a union prayer for peace and victory by Dr. S. E. Irvine, author of the prayer. Dr. G. S. Bennett also took part in the service.

Pledge of allegiance to the flag and "America" opened the program. During the program three numbers were sung by the Christ Ambassadors trio composed of the Misses Elma Nunley, Esther Krempels, and Elizabeth Closs. Mrs. Richard K. Allen was accompanist. David W. Allen, director of music.

On Sunday evening, July 9, the Westminster College group will come to New Castle for the lawn service that will again be held on the lawn of the First Christian church at 7:15 p. m.

YOUNG READERS LIKE TO TOUR CHINA BY BOOK

China is the country that is most popular with young readers of the Public Library who have joined the Summer Travel club of the junior department of the library. Next in popularity are Sweden and Norway, Mexico and countries of Central and South America.

Boys and girls of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades are reading at the fastest rate at the present time. Some members of the club have already visited six or seven countries of the world by book.

A roll of the travel club membership is posted on the bulletin board in the library vestibule.

Pre-Fourth Plans For Camp Reynolds

GREENVILLE, Pa., July 3.—Convalescent patients will stage their own carnival at Camp Reynolds Station Hospital in a special Independence Day celebration Tuesday evening. Pink lemonade, peanuts, "Jo-Jo the Dog Faced Boy" and all the trimmings that go to make a full fledged carnival will be on the program. The Red Cross Recreation Hall will serve as the "grounds". The patients will serve as "freaks," barkers and "concessionaires." Mrs. M. Dryden and Miss Hilda Harker are "advance agents" and are arranging the show.

USO Junior Hostesses from Sharon, Greenville and Farrell will be the main "attraction" of the show.

Big Bombers Are Boon To Infantry

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, July 3.—The appreciation of Allied ground troops for the work of the big bombers which blast a path for their advances was voiced officially today by Gen. Sir Bernard Law Montgomery to Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Travers Harris.

In his message, General Montgomery declared: "It is a most inspiring sight for Allied soldiers to see the might of the bomber command arrive over the battle area. It is an occasion which will not be forgotten by us or the enemy."

Merry Farhney To Marry Fifth Time

BUENOS AIRES, July 3.—(INS)—Madcap heiress Merry Farhney Saturday disclosed that she is engaged to be married for the fifth time.

The lucky man, however, is not Baron Von Stempel, German diplomat to whom she vowed undying love and for whom she braved the anger of the American State Department.

It is, instead, Carlos Ojeda, son of the Mexican representative to Buenos Aires, and whom she met for the first time at a social function a month ago.

Only 1,700,000 Unmarried Young Men Left In Civilian Life

NEW YORK, July 3.—It doesn't seem that way—there really are fewer available men, Business Week reports.

"A new Bureau of the Census study shows there are only 1,700,000 unmarried men in civilian life today between 20 and 34 years of age, compared with more than 4,000,000 unmarried women in the same age group," the publication states.

"And this is all the more significant," the article points out, "when viewed in the light of a normal peacetime year (1940) when unmarried men in the 20-34 age group outnumbered unmarried women by almost 3 to 2."

"The study also highlights the war boom in marriages. Between 1940 and 1944, the percentage of married women between 20 and 24 years of age increased from 51% to 58%, between 25 and 34 years of age from 77% to 82%."

"For all females over 14 years old, the percentage married rose from 59.5% to 62.8%. The unusual nature of this increase is indicated by the fact that in each of the decades 1920-1930 and 1930-1940, the proportion of women who were married changed by only a fraction of 1%."

East Brook Ready For Second Period

'World Family' Will Be Theme Of Cabin Naming On Evening Of July Fourth

With only one vacancy left on the registration list, the second session of Y. W. C. A. East Brook camp for girls' aged nine to thirteen, will begin tomorrow, July 4, according to Miss Caroline Slade, camp director.

Cabin names will be chosen as usual at a cabin stunt night on the first evening of camp. The date, July 4, will give even greater significance to the theme of the evening, "A World Family."

Each cabin will be given the names of a country, and the girls will learn songs and dances representing their new "nationality," Miss Slade said.

One change in the camp staff is being made this term. Mary Lou Mahoney will replace Mary Esther Coates as a junior counselor, and will have charge of outdoor cooking and hikes.

It has been estimated that the chance of drawing 13 cards of the same suit in one bridge hand would be one in 158,753,380,900.

LT. L. F. NEALON IS TRANSFERRED

Change Is Made At Deshon Hospital Annex In This City; New Officer Here

LT. L. F. Nealon who has been stationed at the Deshon Hospital Annex in Cunningham Park for the past month has been transferred to the hospital in Butler where he will be in charge of a reconditioning program for the wounded veterans. He will be succeeded here by Lt. Robert Killerman who has already come to New Castle.

Today the roadway through the camp is being treated with calcium chloride to lay the dust. A number of the men stationed at the annex are out on a holiday pass visiting their homes and the balance are enjoying what the Fourth of July season offers here. Some are guests in local homes, others will stay in camp save for trips to Cascade Park or downtown.

One of the gifts of local people to the annex that is being used extensively is the amplifying system in the recreation hall, the gift of the Briar Birch. Through the use of the system it is possible to amplify the radio programs or victrola records so that every corner of the hall is used. In addition there is a speaker on a hinge which can be swung into the window opening permitting the program to be heard outside.

Ed'cators Meet In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, July 3.—(INS)—Nearly 2,000 representatives of the nation's teaching profession were assembled in Pittsburgh today for a wartime convention of the National Education Association. Post-war problems in education were uppermost in concern.

Normally a much larger gathering, the NEA meeting this year was limited because of wartime travel restrictions, only to members of the representative assembly with each delegate representing 500 teachers.

"Re-conversion" of education after the war—chiefly the assimilation back into the school system of young war veterans and war workers—is a major theme of the meeting, which begins formally tomorrow night when President Francis P. Gaines of Washington & Lee university will make a keynote address.

Urges Meeting Of Youths Of World

HARRISBURG, July 3.—(INS)—A meeting of representative youths of the allied nations to discuss post-war problems was proposed today by the Young Democrats of Pennsylvania.

"We propose a meeting of the minds of the young people of Great Britain, of China, of Russia, and of the other United Nations with the young people of the United States on the shape of the world after the war," said Miss Genevieve Blatt, of Pittsburgh, president.

In a statement criticizing the Republican national platform for 1944, Miss Blatt said the "international relations plank of the Republican platform is a concoction of doddering and senile words that mean nothing."

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Such fears in any older person can be reduced if this person, knowing the nature of electric discharge from the clouds, will avoid a few dangers, such as standing in a draft, near a chimney, or leaning against the wall or standing near or under a tree. He may feel more secure while wearing rubbers and standing in the middle of a room during the most severe period.

Many tots and runabouts who have no fear during an electric storm should without creating fears in them, be induced to stay away from trees. Of the few persons killed each summer by electric storms, most have been struck while under or near a tree. Yet so few persons are killed by lightning that the widely prevailing fears during thunder storms are unwarranted. Wise parents can help prevent or reduce them.

Confucianism, Buddhism and Taoism are the religions of China. There are, however, an estimated 48,000,000 Mohammedans with more than 42,000 mosques in the country, including Manchuria.

Holiday Traveling Crowds Local Trains

Buses Report 'Business As Usual'
Standing Room Only On
Some Trains
Holiday traveling is heavy from New Castle stations, as well as from the larger cities, local ticket agents say.

Trains seem to be carrying the heaviest load, however, leaving the local bus crowds about as usual. Although there was no rush early this morning, Pittsburgh and Lake Erie officials reported standing room only Sunday evening, and the Pennsylvania estimated that there was a 15 per cent increase over the usual war time week-end travel.

No large increase was reported at the bus depot on Jefferson street either Sunday or this morning.

In spite of the local increases, the government's request that holiday travel be kept down seems to be better observed here than in many other places, according to reports from out of town.

Lemons were native to Persia but were long ago introduced in the south of Europe. They were much used in perfumes because of their refreshing scent which never grew stale.

The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company
Last year the Northwestern Mutual paid over 35 million dollars to its policyholders as dividends. During the past ten years, dividends have exceeded 337 millions, which represents a return of 25.7% of the premiums received by the Company during that period.
When buying life insurance you may well save yourself premium dollars if you will check with

A maximum of 20 pounds per person will be granted on application to War Price and Rationing Boards. Applications may be handled by mail.

Spare Stamp No. 37 from Book Four must be attached to the application form for each person applying for sugar.

There are two periods during which consumers may apply for rationing sugar. The first period for rationing sugar for this purpose began May 15 and will continue through July 9.

Issuance during the first period shall be limited to ten pounds per person. The application for the first period must be accompanied by Spare Stamp No. 37 in War Ration Book Number Four.

The second period for issuing sugar for home canning will be from July 17 through October 31, 1944. Applications for the second period are to be accompanied by a statement as to the use of the earlier allowance. No issuance shall be made, except during the two above specified periods.

SHOES
Airplane Stamp No. 1 and 2 in War Ration Book Three good for one pair of shoes for an indefinite period.

Special shoe ration stamps which dealers issue to their customers for refunds will no longer have a 30-day limit, but will be good for the same period as Airplane Stamp No. 1 or 2.

GASOLINE
"A" coupons numbered ten remain valid through August 8. All "A" coupons are valued at 3 gallons.

Serially numbered B-3, B-4, C-3 and C-4 coupons are valid for five gallons for each coupon.

Gasoline dealers are not permitted to accept "R" gasoline coupons from non-highway users at filling stations.

The regulations governing "E" non-highway coupons remain unchanged.

These coupons may be accepted at filling stations so long as they are not exchanged for gasoline delivered into the fuel tank of a motor vehicle.

Holders of R coupons who have been accustomed to buying their gasoline at filling stations will be able to continue doing so by simply exchanging their "R" coupons for "E" coupons at their local boards.

TIRES
Motorists are cautioned that while they will no longer be required to have their tires inspected periodically, they are to retain their present tire inspection records in order that they may be able to secure tire replacements, and meet other requirements of the regulation.

Persons with supplemental rations are now eligible for Grade I tires. However, boards are still limited to a certain quota and issuances for these are made accordingly.

Close screening of applications is necessary in order to assure granting tires to those most eligible.

Bond Buying Reminder At
Camp Reynolds

GREENVILLE, Pa., July 3.—It's a case of stooping less if you buy war bonds at Camp Reynolds.

A wooden bar is stretched across the entrance to the Headquarters Company mess hall and is gradually raised as more bonds are purchased.

Across the wooden bar is emblazoned, "Buy War Bonds or stoop."

Capt. Bernard M. Johnson, commanding officer of Headquarters Company at Camp Reynolds, devised this novel method of stimulating bond sales in his organization and at the same time informing the soldiers how much further they have to go to attain their allotted quota.

At the present time, the war is in the lowest of four notches and men coming into the mess hall must stoop under it. When a quarter of the quota for Headquarters Company is reached, the bar will be raised a notch higher, at the half way mark another notch. It will not be high enough for the men to walk under until the entire quota is reached.

Camp Reynolds
Soldiers Bomb
Axis Powers Now

GREENVILLE, July 3.—Camp Reynolds soldiers are bombing the Axis powers—with war bonds.

The accuracy of their aim can be seen on a sign in front of 11th Group Headquarters. Germans and Japanese are pictured on the billboard with bombs flying at them from all directions. The larger $1,000 bombs are company contributions whereas the $500 bonds are individual purchases and have the name of the buyer painted on.

Erection of the sign was under the supervision of Lt. Edmund H. Stewart, Adj., 11th Group.

Youngstown Pastor Is Elected Bishop

MINNEAPOLIS, July 3.—Dr. Schuyler E. Garth, pastor of the Trinity Methodist church, Youngstown, O., was elected a bishop by the North Central Jurisdictional Conference of the Methodist church.

Dr. Garth was elected on the 18th ballot with a vote of 295, which was 62 more than necessary.

He was ordained in 1920 and was appointed to Youngstown from the Christ Methodist church, Pittsburgh, in 1936. Previously he had served as pastor of the First Ave. Methodist church at St. Petersburg, Fla.

We dedicate this page to the young men and to the young lady of the Pennsylvania Power Company who answered the call of their country and took their place beside the millions of others in active war duty. We are proud of every one of them, and our thoughts are with them as each day they carry forward the victory banner for us and for their country.

These were the boys that answered your service calls — the men you saw working on high voltage lines — the voices you heard when you called Pennsylvania Power Company. There was a fight to be won, and they are out there winning it. One among these gave his life, their duties fulfilled, have been honorably discharged; and the remainder are heroically carrying on the fight. We, here, are filling in on their jobs keeping electric power flowing into war plant and home until they come victoriously back and take up their work again.

Locust Damage In State Diminishes

HARRISBURG, July 3.—(INS)—Pennsylvania farmers fearing damages by the 17-year locust were given some cheering news today by the department of agriculture following a spot check of three southwestern counties by entomologists and a prediction that farm lands may escape harm.

Dr. Thomas L. Guyton, director of the plant industry bureau, and Dr. A. B. Champlain, surveyed farm and timber lands in Franklin, Cumberland and Adams counties and reported "light damage" to trees in heavily wooded and mountain areas. Relatively little damage was found on trees in farming areas.

The second brood of the locust will appear next year in most eastern Pennsylvania counties.

Stolen Wallet Causes Burial Of Wrong Man

CINCINNATI, July 3.—(INS)—Members of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scollon of Cincinnati recently found themselves about to believe in "ghosts" and all because of an incident over which they are still talking.

The body of a man was found in a tourist camp near Louisville, Ky. Identification papers carried the name of Herbert Ralph Scollon and the Scollons, notified that the body sent to Cincinnati for burial.

Only a week after the funeral, Herbert, who knew nothing of the burial, walked into his parents' home.

"I saw him coming up the stairs and I couldn't believe it until he came right up to me," Mrs. Scollon related.

Herbert, astonished at the news, hurried back to his home in Atlanta to try to beat a letter which his mother sent to his wife telling of his "death."

Meanwhile both authorities and the Scollons were trying to find out who was buried. Mrs. Scollon said that somebody evidently was using her son's name. She recalled that his wallet had been stolen about a year ago.

Railroads Progress Even In War Years

Pennsylvania Official Credits Ability To Handle War Load To Recent Improvements

Even during the last five war years, railroad research has continued, adding to the progress of transportation, according to LeRoy Simcoke, chief clerk of the Pennsylvania railroad, E. and A. Division. Reviewing the research activities of the road, Mr. Simcoke reports that over $300,000,000 has been used for improvement and testing since 1939, and almost a billion dollars since 1929.

The Pennsylvania is working on a new type of direct drive steam turbine locomotive of greatly increased power at the present time, Mr. Simcoke said. Much of the research is carried on the Altoona Works, which includes the only locomotive test plant in America.

Among other safety devices now in use is the cab signal, which reproduces inside the engine cab the indication of the external signals, so that they can be seen whether the outside visibility is good or not.

The amount spent on betterment in the last fifteen years has made possible the ability of the American railroads to carry the war load and to handle essential civilian service as well, Mr. Simcoke added.

Education Will Be Streamlined

Moves Under Way Will Make Classrooms More Attractive And Interesting

STODGY LECTURES THING OF PAST

HARRISBURG, July 3.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's educational system appeared headed today for a sharp jolt that probably will make classrooms more interesting places for most school children.

Stodgy lectures were expected to be replaced by new visual teaching aids coupled with the benefits of group workshops and practical experience.

Dr. Henry Klowmower, director of teacher education and certification, explained that new teaching methods would be used by instructors when 56 summer schools for teachers open throughout the state on Wednesday. Success of the program this summer probably will be reflected in the classrooms' throughout Pennsylvania in the fall.

Cut Down Lectures
"The movement this summer appears to be away from the old recitation period," Klowmower said, "and the old lecture method will in many instances play a very secondary part."

The educational "eye opener" resulted from the need to revise curricula since war time social changes have been experienced on the home front.

Text books were expected to give way before educational films and other illustrative materials while group workshops and field excursions will be substituted for classrooms, Klowmower said.

Contacts with military officials, industrialists and men who have experienced new trends has resulted in the dissatisfaction of many instructors with textbooks," he explained.

Increased air travel has given educational officials a new understanding of the world and its problems, it was asserted, while history and social relations "take on new meanings."

This Is Air Age
There is hardly a subject in schools that is not touched in some way through the rapid expansion of the air industry," Klowmower asserted. "Each takes on a new value which must be taught in terms of the air age."

He said most of the 2600 teachers issued emergency certificates during the 1943-44 school term were returning to summer schools for instruction.

"Although they did their jobs pretty well during the past term," he said, "the teachers have discovered an urgent need to find a better way of doing things and therefore are returning to colleges during vacation months."

Although some summer courses have started, he said a majority of vacation classes for teachers will begin July 5.

THEY SWAP LEARNING
For 36 years a group of professors—never more than 20—have met monthly at the Pennsylvania State College to discuss papers of major interest in their respective fields. Nearly every department is represented in the organization, which is known as the "X Club."

Says Everyone Must Share In Postwar Plans

IOWA CITY, Ia., July 3.—(INS)—Insuring financial security for millions of families of child-bearing age, many of whom already have pre-school age children, is one of the major problems in the United States, according to Dr. Robert R. Sears, director of the child welfare research station at the University of Iowa.

"One of the things to be guarded against is creation of large floating populations," Sears explained. "Children brought up under these conditions have neither the necessary security in their homes nor adequate educational opportunity."

Sears said another problem is prevention of broken homes. "American life always has been organized with the expectation that children will be brought up by their own parents in their own homes."

and children who miss out on this do not fit so effectively into the American way of life," he added.

The child specialist warned against institutionalizing a large number of children.

Germans Change Tactics In Robot Bomb Program

By JOSEPH THOMAS

LONDON, July 3.—German robot bombs hurled blindly into southern England early today, after the Nazi high command changed its policy somewhat by sending piloted planes in the wake of the rocket explosives to observe where they landed.

The flying bombs were launched against lower England by daylight and caused some damage while rescuers were searching debris caused by last night's raids.

Follow Long Lull

The raids during the night followed a lengthy lull in the hit-or-miss assaults. The darkness attacks were marked by the accompanying sound of regular plane motors, and were in increased strength.

The drone of piloted aircraft and a number of small explosions indicated that the Germans changed their tactics and were attempting to discover where the robots fell. Heavy gunfire from anti-aircraft batteries drove off the piloted machines, though, shortly after they crossed the coast.

Fighters of the Royal Air Force and ack-ack batteries were understood to have destroyed many of the flying bombs as they swept in from the channel.

Installations Bombed

The German night and early morning raids followed a day in which allied bombers treated the Axis portions of the continent to a two-way assault.

U. S. eighth air force heavy bombers smashed the robot-bomb installation in France, in the Calais area, and struck at other targets.

While these British-based bombers were active, strong forces of heavy bombers left Italian bases to deliver heavy blows against Axis supplies and communications in the Budapest area. Two railroad yards and a factory making parts for Messerschmitt fighters were plastered. Another factory was raided and U. S. Portresses hit three other Hungarian targets—oil refinery installations and industrial plants—within a 30-mile radius of the capital.

Electric Irons Are Donated For Use Of Soldiers

Camp And Hospital Council Receives Contribution Of Two Irons; Need Ironing Board

It was announced that New Castle citizens have responded generously to the appeal for an electric iron for use at a nearby army hospital, so that the soldiers going to town on pass can have their clothes nicely pressed. Two irons were secured, which will be put to good use by the soldiers, but an ironing board is also needed, and anyone who can donate the board is asked to contact the council, either by calling 5084 or 1299.

Mrs. Charles McGill donated a book case for use in the recreation rooms. These rooms are being outfitted by Camp and Hospital Councils throughout Western Pennsylvania.

Children can also have a part in making soldiers fit to fight again. Sponge rubber balls are needed by the soldiers who have sustained arm injuries and needed something to grip on to exercise their muscles which have lain dormant during treatment. Any one who can donate these rubber balls are asked to leave them at the chapter house.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—(INS)—The nation today mourned the passing of Norman H. Davis, chairman of the American Red Cross and close personal friend and adviser to President Roosevelt, who died at Hot Springs, Va.

Davis was financial adviser to President Wilson and the American commission to negotiate peace. He was given many other assignments under Presidents Harding, Coolidge and Hoover, and advised President Roosevelt on postwar foreign plans. He was appointed chairman of the Red Cross in April, 1938. German Activity Around Oden Bridgehead On Reduced Scale

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS Allied Expeditionary Force, July 3.—(INS)—The text of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's communique No. 65 follows:

"During yesterday morning our Oden bridgehead was further strengthened. The enemy's activity was on a reduced scale, owing probably to the severe mauling he received on Saturday. There were some enemy attacks, but they were firmly repulsed.

"There is nothing to report from the remainder of the front. Bad weather continued to restrict activity yesterday, but fighter-bombers attacked bridges over the River Orne, and fighters attacked vehicles on the roads behind the enemy lines."

Golf PlannedSmaller And Heavier Ball
Will Be Introduced Again
After War Is Over

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(International News Service Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, July 3.—Take it from Gene Sarazen, who doesn't talk just to get his teeth rattled, the smaller and heavier golf ball (the old 162) will be returned to circulation as soon as the war is over.

This is the ball with which Mr. Robert Tyne Jones, the laird of the links, won his championships in a manner so utterly garish and amusing that golf became practically a national epidemic and even the huns in Central Park were wearing knickers.

Said he succinctly about the ball (the large 168) American golfers have been using for upward of 14 years.

The British don't use it. We don't like it. And there was never any reason for its introduction. Now that the datted thing has become scarce with the shortage of rubber, the change back to the old standard after the war is almost assured.

But this won't be the biggest peace-time change!

And you can take that from Sarazen, too. We'll have clubs and equipment, the like of which we never dreamed of. There'll be finely balanced gadders and measurements in club-structure that might need a micrometer to gauge them. Everything... width and length and balance... will be scaled away down. It'll be the scientific-instrument era of golf.

Mr. Sarazen is forecasting peace-time equipment which must improve everybody's golf, even that of the experts.

So, what? So nothing, except don't sell Gene Sarazen short on anything he says or does. For, among other things, he's the guy who invented the greatest of all stroke-savers, the sand wedge.

And in 1932 won the American and British open championships with it while nobody else was noticing.

Insect Enemy

The Old Timer was fingering over his big Chesapeake for wood ticks. I'd already inspected my own pup and satisfied myself that he hadn't picked up any during the past hour or so.

"Ever troubled with 'em yourself?" I queried, by way of making conversation.

"They're pretty bad in the spring," the Old Timer admitted. "I pull off a lot of 'em."

"Aren't you afraid of Rocky Mountain fever or tularemia?"

"Tick, Minor Pest"

"Oh, you mean rabbit fever? I've heard of it. Never heard of Rocky Mountain fever, though. Sometimes when you pull off a tick its head will stick under your skin and maybe there'll be a little red sore spot for a couple of days, but nothing to worry you. I did hear of a fellow dying of rabbit fever a couple years ago, but I never knew anyone who had it."

Thus the woodsman dismisses the wood tick as a minor pest of the woods. He's rather happy at the approach of mid-July, when most of the ticks disappear, but he doesn't lose any sleep over them in the spring either, when they're waiting on every blade of grass, piece of brushwood and in every tree for human or four-legged victims.

Infection Avenue

However, scientists tell us that the most common mode of tularemia infection is the bite of the wood tick, and that the most common source is the cleaning of an infected rabbit. At this time of year rabbits needn't worry you because it isn't rabbit-eating time. Most ticks are of two kinds, the rabbit tick and the wood tick.

The wood tick bites man and other animals and the rabbit tick doesn't bite man.

The wood tick's at its zenith in May and June. By the middle of July most of them have hauled up for the year or have found animals hosts. Normally only about one out of 2,500 is infected with tularemia.

Feeds on Rabbit, Grouse
The rabbit tick flourishes on rabbits and grouse, reaching its high peak just before the first frost, when a rabbit may be carrying from 20 to 50,000 of them. They're responsible for the spread of tularemia among animals and birds.

The immature form of wood tick may feed on an infected mouse and carry the disease over to its adult stage. Then, if it bites a human, infection will result. Best protection is regular inspection of the body. It takes three or four hours for a tick to make up its mind where to settle. If one fastens on to you, you may use your fingers to pull it off, but you must use care, for it may be carrying the disease.

President Andrew Dodds of the Lawrence County Sportsmen's association today reported that the association's request for ammunition has been approved to the tune of 600 rounds. Ammunition will be in charge of Game Protector Frank Coen. The information came from Congressman Louis E. Graham, who used his office to expedite the request of the county organization which is improving its farm at Harbor bridge for trapshooting, skeet-shooting and pistol shooting. A bulldozer has been at work for some time, according to President Dodds.

According to a Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's club bulletins received by Dodds states that the War Production Board has announced that ammunition for sportsmen will be released before the hunting season next fall. This easing of the situation is attributed to the tremendous output American factories have developed to supply the armed forces.

Year Ago: St. Louis Cards hiked their lead to two games when they defeated Brooklyn, 5-3. 10 years ago: Red Lucas, Pirates, blanked the Reds, 10-0, and 20 years ago with Urban Shocker pitching for them, the Browns pined 19 hits and won from Cleveland, 16-0.

Defeats To Make League
Race Open Affair

By JOHN CASHMAN

(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, July 3.—The Boston Red Sox are within 1½ games of the American league-leading St. Louis Browns today after being dropped to fourth place on June 26.

Being in second place is an old story with the Red Sox (who were half a game out of the lead on June 20) but the Cronin men represent the strongest threat the Browns have seen since Chicago rose to second place a week ago, then failed.

Browns Lose Two

The attack on the Browns' hold on the lead was direct. The Red Sox trounced the Browns (twice yesterday, 1 to 0 and 4 to 3 in 11 innings.

Philadelphia Athletics and Detroit Tigers divided, the Tigers winning the opener, 8 to 0, and the Athletics taking the closing game, 2 to 0. The Chicago White Sox took the opener from the New York Yankees, 7 to 3 in ten innings, then lost the afterpiece, 7 to 6.

The Washington Senators were scalped by the Cleveland Indians in both starts, 4 to 3 in ten innings and 6 to 3.

Pirates Lose, Then Tie

In the National league, the Sunday baseball law in Pittsburgh interfered with completion of a twin bill once more when the Boston Braves hit the Pirates, 4-1, then were forced into a 3-5 deadlock when the nightcap was called off after eight innings.

The Cincinnati Reds took over the New York Giants, 4 to 1, then succumbed to Johnny Allen's three-hit 7 to 0 triumph in the second game.

The Philadelphia Phillies lost to the Chicago Cubs, 8 to 1 on Bob Chipman's five-hitter, then won the afterpiece 4 to 2.

The St. Louis Cards widened the gap between themselves and the rest of the field with two wins over the Brooklyn Dodgers, 2 to 1 in 14 innings 4 to 2.

Approximately 25 horses were exhibited at the second annual Shango valley horse show held at the Sharon Hotel yesterday.

Most of the horses were local, although some were from Ohio, and one was from Lawrence county. An unusual feature was the large number of western and Palomino horses entered.

Fair Or Foul

By LAWTON CARVER

(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, July 3.—New York newspapers are on brother Branch Rickey again, lambasting him up one side and down the other, the cause of it all this time being his zeal in pursuit of pennies to the detriment of his Brooklyn baseball club.

The president of the slipping Dodgers is a baseball executive of the old school, trained in the notion that the hired hands should play ball even in their spare time to gather in a couple of more dollars for the club, even if the hired hands must go without sleep and rest.

Hence, according to the chorused complaints of local baseball writers the Dodgers played an exhibition game at Toledo Tuesday night, climbed aboard a train at 1:30 a. m., tumbled out of the train at Chicago at 6:30 a. m. and a few hours later engaged the rest-favored Cubs in a double-header.

Rickey Upbraided
If the Dodgers had won perhaps one would have thought to upbraid brother Branch, but inasmuch as the Cubs poured on a 28-hit attack and took both ends of the double bill by 12 to 6 and 6 to 2 there is no end of bitterness in the ink we are spilling around here now.

Mr. Rickey is a habitual exhibition-game scheduler. Last season the Dodgers never could be sure when the train would be stopped between major league points and they would be told that this is where we are playing today, boys, just when the boys were settling down to their reading or writing or sin running.

Those exhibitions are an annoyance to the ball players. The penny-hunting stops at this town or that one upsets the routine, causes considerable inconvenience all around and sometimes work to a club's disadvantage in the regular league games that follow.

Causes Grumbling
This leads to grumbling and dissension and in the long run is scarcely worth the trouble. There is no guarantee that the Dodgers would have whipped the Cubs in either of both of these games Wednesday, but for a certainty the exhibition didn't help them any and they probably will be grumbling about it for weeks, or until such time as memory of this one is driven out of their minds by the inconvenience of the next one.

CONTACTS BROTHER THROUGH SOLDIER

After 14 years of silence, Mr. and Mrs. John Pecaro, of 18 North Wayne street, have received word from the latter's brother, located in Italy, in a small town near Naples, through the good offices of an American soldier from Butler, now serving in Italy.

The brother-in-law contacted the soldier, a Polish boy, and asked him where he was from in America, and got the answer, from Butler, Pa. The soldier, stating that Butler was near New Castle, after being informed Mr. and Mrs. Pecaro lived there, agreed to write them on the brother's behalf.

Since that time Mr. and Mrs. Pecaro have received several letters from the latter's brother, written by the American soldier, as the brother, on account of war conditions, is not permitted to forward mail to this country.

DAVIS BIBLE CLASS ENJOYS WIENER ROAST

Members of the John Davis Bible Class of the Mahoning Methodist church, gathered during the week-end at the church, then proceeded to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Butts, of the Harbor road. There was a good attendance.

There was a social period, and games on the lawn were the diversions of the evening.

A bonfire was built, and the group enjoyed roasting and eating a group of wieners and the trimmings.

Christmas Mail Overseas Must Be Sent In September

PHILADELPHIA, July 3.—(INS)—Postmaster Joseph P. Gallagher of Philadelphia advised the public today to begin thinking now about sending Christmas packages and cards to members of the armed forces overseas.

Mailing should be done between September 15 and October 15 to assure delivery by December 25 to forces who receive mail through an A. P. O. or fleet post office at New York, San Francisco, New Orleans, Seattle, Miami, Presque Isle, Maine or Minneapolis, Gallagher said.

Gallagher pointed out that while the month period beginning September 15 is suggested for early mailing, Christmas cards and packages may be mailed sooner. Each gift parcel must be labeled "Christmas parcel" and greeting cards must be enclosed in sealed envelopes.

Urgent need for shipping space for war materials necessitates a five-pound limit for parcels which also must have no more than a 36-inch length and girth combined.

The public was urged not to include food and clothing in gift parcels because the armed forces are provided with enough. Not more than one Christmas parcel will be accepted in any one week when sent by the same person to the same addressee, Gallagher added.

Two men from Brookfield Township, in Ohio, were killed during the same period. The Township gold star roll shows five men.

Relax Restrictions On Well Drillings

WASHINGTON, July 3.—(INS)—Deputy Petroleum Administrator Ralph K. Davies Saturday announced the relaxation of federal restrictions on the drilling and equipping of oil and gas wells throughout the United States.

The action, Davies said, is in line with P.W. policy "of eliminating rules and regulations whenever possible."

Major changes in the new order are:

1. A gas well may be drilled anywhere in the United States, if the well is the only drilling or production well located on a unit consisting of 640 contiguous surface acres.
2. Automatic authorization now is granted for the use of materials for gas gathering lines and gas lift and booster plants when the cost of materials for any one complete operation does not exceed $10,000.
3. Automatic authorization is granted for the use of materials for natural gasoline recovery, gas treating, cycling and pressure maintenance when the cost of material for the one operation does not exceed $10,000.

Workers Scrapping Three Former Ships

PHILADELPHIA, July 3.—(INS)—Maritime workers are toiling at top speed in a shallow berth in the Tacony section of Philadelphia on three vessels which soon will be added to the nation's might in the war against the Axis.

But instead of freshly painted hulls and bright new steel, the ships are battle-seared hulks with twisted rust-eaten plates. They are being picked apart by men who are hacking them into scrap-iron which will be used to make new ships and munitions to wreak havoc on the enemy.

The craft—the 3795-ton Exterminator, built in Genoa; the 11,300-ton Sun-Ship-built tanker, Altair, and the Liberty ship J. Pinckney Henderson—are being dismantled by the Northern Metal Company.

PIN-WORMS At Last— A Real Treatment!

You may not realize how many of your neighbors—grown-ups as well as children—have Pin-Worms at this very moment. People don't talk about this nasty infection. Sometimes they are too embarrassed to mention the tormenting rectal itching and up to now they have usually suffered in silence because they have not known of any effective way to deal with this dreadful pest that lives inside the human body.

Important Medical Discovery
Today, thanks to a valuable scientific discovery, a remarkable new treatment has been made possible. It is based on a special drug, known as gentian violet. This drug is the vital element in P-W, the new Pin-Worm tablets developed by Dr. D. Jayne & Son, America's leading specialists in worm medicines. P-W tablets are small and easy to take, and they act in a special, gentle way to destroy Pin-Worms.

It is very easy to "catch" this nasty infection, and the ugly creatures can cause real distress. So watch for the signs that may mean Pin-Worms: itching seat, uneasy stomach, bed-wetting, nervous fidgeting. If you suspect Pin-Worms, get a box of P-W right away and follow the simple directions carefully.

P-W means Pin-Worm relief!

There will be no meeting of the New Castle Lions club Tuesday at noon because of the Fourth of July holiday.

Girls Are Sewing Own Clothes Again

Take a closer look at that attractive summer dress you noticed someone wearing down Washington street. There's a good chance that it was made at home, according to clerks in yard goods departments of local stores.

Many more New Castle women than usual are sewing their own clothes this summer, the clerks find, in spite of difficulty in getting just the materials they happen to want. Trimmings are almost impossible to get unless you want white ruffles of some sort, so many gresses are being done up with embroidery and applique work by clever sewers.

As for materials themselves, the choice is between rayon and some more rayon, say the clerks. Cottons are getting scarcer, but rayon blends are disappearing, and a few people can still remember silk, but that's all. The women aren't stumped by the shortages, though. They're sewing anyway, more than ever.
